Borah Seeks Anti Monopoly Amendment To NRA Act

CONGRESS TO BE ASKED TO TAKE ACTION

Move Planned to Relieve Business Men of Code Restrictions, Reported

AID SMALL FELLOWS

House Leaders Expect That Democrats Will Back Program of President

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27. — (UP) — Proposals that congress move to relieve the business man of NRA code restrictions and of credit difficulties increased today in the midst of preliminary hubbub to the opening of the session next week.

Criticism that the NRA set-up breeds monopoly and is a burden to the small business man was voiced by Senator Reed, Repn., Penna.

Senate Progressives, included Senator Borah, Repn., Ida., and Senator Nye, Repn., N. D., already have announced they will fight for an "anti-monopoly" amendment to the NRA act.

The drive is spreading among house groups, Rep. Patman, Dem., Tex., and Rep. Collins, Dem., Miss., are prepared to champion recovery assistance to small merchants, industries and wholesalers.

Decline Posts

The reaction in the NRA was an invitation by recovery administrator Hugh S. Johnson to Nye and Borah that they serve on a board to hear complaints. Both declined. Nye suggested congress should appoint the members of such a board. Borah was understood to feel he was in too great disagreement with NRA officials over anti-trust matters to serve.

Agitation developed among house members also for RFC credit extension to such business men. House majority leader Byrns said "something has got to be done to relieve the 'small fellows' in industry and business."

Meanwhile house leaders indicated that they hoped that the administration would not propose amendments to the emergency legislation of last session which established the industry control

WOODIN CONDITION IS HELD UNCHANGED

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 27.—(UP) — Still considered in a serious condition and not allowed to see visitors, William H. Woodin, secretary of the treasury, today was reported "unchanged."

Secretary Woodin is confined to the Desert sanatorium here where the bulletin was issued early today by his physicians, Dr. Jerome Wagoner, of New York, and Dr. Paul Holbrook, of Tucson.

Dr. Wagoner said he held no fear at this time, although the condition of Secretary Woodin was still considered serious. "He is seeing no visitors at all," Dr. Wagoner said.

Secretary Woodin was ordered to the Desert sanatorium several days before Christmas when a recent throat ailment which caused a temporary retirement from his Washington duties became serious. He was visiting his son, William H. Woodin Jr., here at the time.

ORANGE COUNTY RANCHERS GET FEDERAL LOANS

Land Bank Approves Total of $131,700 in Loans, Announcement Says

BEARING FRUITS of a campaign to obtain quicker action from the Federal Land bank for Orange county ranchers, announcement was made today of approval of $131,700 in loans to Orange county agriculturalists by the Federal Land bank at Berkeley during the last 10 days. The money was spread over 23 loans, 17 of which were approved yesterday.

This makes a total of $210,700 spread over 28 loans which have been made in Orange county up until today by the Land bank and Land bank commissioner, according to records kept by Miss Justine Whitney, Orange county recorder.

Word of the approval of the $131,700 in loans came from C. A. Palmer, Orange county representative of the bank, hot on the heels of an announcement from Hamilton H. Cotton, chairman of the state advisory board on public works that efforts to liberalize the loan policy of the Federal Land bank in loaning on Orange county lands had met with success.

Palmer placed the papers in escrow today and the $131,700 will be released to borrowers as soon as the papers are out of escrow. This is expected to take from 10 days to two weeks.

As a result of the efforts made in the county to liberalize the loan policy, the Federal Land bank officials were authorized to make loans as high as $750 an acre on the best orange groves in the county and loans on other lands in proportion.

Liberalization of the Federal Land bank loan policy in regard to Orange county lands culminated a campaign that has been carried on by city officials, bankers and business men of the community for several months. The campaign was in response to complaints from ranchers that loans were difficult to secure and that when they were approved they were for amounts discriminatory against Orange county.

Palmer also announced today that he has received a new form blank for water agreements which is simpler and more liberal in interpretation of water agreements made to insure water on lands on which federal loans are made.

AMERICAN OPERA OPENS N. Y. SEASON

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—(UP) — Social registries and several thousand persons listed only in the telephone directory crowded the Metropolitan Opera House last night for the first opening night performance of an American opera. There was little standing room downstairs and only a few vacant seats in the glittering "diamond horseshoe" when the conductor raised his baton for the overture of Deems Taylor's "Peter Ibbetson."

Women in ermine, sables and mink arrived in limousines and taxicabs to enter the brilliantly-lit portals of the opera house for the inaugural of the 49th subscription season. Hundreds of other couples trod through the snow.

Bandits Rob Bank, Kidnap 3 Employees

Posses Formed in Texas in Effort to Run Down Men and Recover $40,000

MARLIN, Tex., Dec. 27.—(UP) — Bandits who staged a swift and daring $40,000 robbery of the First State Bank here and fled with three persons as hostages were sought throughout this region today.

The kidnaped persons were middle-aged Vice President M. V. Bradshaw, Miss Andrew Peyton, bookkeeper, and Lee Humphrey, a Negro porter.

Deputy Sheriff L. O. Hay, in charge of possemen recruited hastily to run down the bandits, said he had reason to believe the leader of the gang was W. J. (Whitey) Walker, notorious desperado.

"Walker has been operating in this vicinity and the job looks like his work," Hay said. "He probably had two or three companions. I have no fear for the safety of the employees—they probably will be released soon."

Hay said he had received no definite word of the bandits, or of their victims, since they were seen speeding from here in a light automobile a few minutes before the robbery was discovered.

The bandits evidently entered the bank by way of a rear door at 7:30 a. m., waited for the time clock to open the vault, seized the money and forced Bradshaw, Miss Peyton and Humphrey to accompany them.

Shaw Spencer, a mail carrier, delivered mail to the bank at 7:35 a. m. and saw two men in the bank, one of them talking to Bradshaw.

Spencer exchanged greetings with the second man, whom he said appeared to be a farmer. He was not molested.

Sol Golding, a cotton buyer, discovered the robbery and spread the alarm. He entered the bank, finding it unoccupied.

In a rear room Golding found a bag of silver lying on a table. He then discovered the vault open and the contents missing.

15-YEAR-OLD GIRL ACCUSED OF MURDER

ST. JOHN, Ariz., Dec. 27.—(UP) — A 15-year-old school girl who said her gun hand was guided by the urgent message of a ouija board faced a possible charge of patricide today with the death of her father, E. J. Turley, in San Diego.

Turley, a naval reservist, died in naval hospital last night from gunshot wounds which his daughter, Mattie, allegedly fired so "mother could marry a cowboy."

A marine corps transport plane removed him to the hospital last week. Before his death, Mattie pleaded guilty to a charge of attempted murder. A recommendation from the county attorney that she be sentenced to six years in the state industrial school for girls may be withdrawn in favor of a murder complaint, it was intimated.

PILOT RISKS LIFE TO AID LITTLE TOT

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 27.—(UP) — Surgeons of Johns Hopkins hospital held high hopes today of saving the life of five-months-old Sue Trammell, who was flown here on a perilous night trip through storms and snow for a delicate brain operation.

James R. Wedell, racing pilot, cut short a holiday hunting trip in Texas to speed the infant here. Roaring out of the winter's worst storm, which grounded all other air traffic in this section, he completed the 1400 mile flight at 1:57 a. m.

Dr. Paul Kunkel, Johns Hopkins associate of Dr. Walter E. Dandy, eminent brain surgeon, said his preliminary examination of the baby confirmed the diagnosis of Houston doctors that Sue was suffering from hydrocephalus of water on the brain. Dr. Dandy expected to examine her later in the day.

DAWES BANK GIVES INSULL PAPER AND GERMAN BONDS AS SECURITY FOR U. S. LOAN

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(UP) — Chairman Fletcher of the senate banking and currency committee planned today to call a special meeting of his group for later this week to consider a report from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation showing that insull securities were among collateral posted by the Central Republic Bank of Chicago to obtain a $90,000,000 government loan.

Former Vice President Dawes was head of the bank.

Fletcher said that German bonds as well as securities of the ill-fated insull utilities enterprises were among the 7,000 items of collateral reported by Chairman Jones of the R. E. C. About $28,000,000 of the loan has been repaid.

The report was submitted to the senate banking subcommittee in response to a request. Chairman Fletcher said he probably will call a meeting this week to consider it.

Members of the committee refused to make the report public.

OPPOSITION OF SENATOR LONG FOR HOLD ELECTION FOR INSURANCE

Will Elect Congressman to Contest Mrs. Kemp Who Recently Was Named

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 27.—(UP) — Led by "minute men," a protesting electorate, seeking to dethrone Louisiana's political boss, Sen. Huey P. Long, today went to the polls in one of the most unusual elections in history.

Unsanctioned by state officials, the election was ordered by a group of citizens who chose J. Y. Sanders Jr., as their preference for congressman from the Sixth congressional district.

The election is unprecedented in American politics.

Sanders is the only candidate, to fill the unexpected term of the late Congressman Holivar E. Kemp. The widowed Mrs. Kemp won the office two weeks ago, in an election maneuvered by Long's faction, in which her name was the only one printed on the ballots, and in which all other candidates were barred.

Citizens took up arms, under authority of their local courts, and halted that election in three of the 12 parishes in the district.

Sanders will go to Washington, with credentials from the citizens' election committee, and contest the seat with Mrs. Kemp, who holds credentials from the governor and the secretary of state, both subordinates in the Long regime. Congress will have to decide the contest.

Sanders conducted a two weeks' campaign, and closed with a mass meeting at Baton Rouge last night, where speakers urged citizens to "roll up an overwhelming vote, proclaiming to the world that we are through with Huey Long and all his works, and put an end to the mad career of this tyrant."

DEATH TOTAL 201 IN FRENCH WRECK

PARIS, Dec. 27.—(UP) — President Albert Lebrun, cabinet ministers and thousands of mourners stood in a drizzling rain at the East station today to honor those who died in the railway wreck at Langny Saturday night.

It was announced officially that the death toll had reached 201. It was feared that some bodies had not been found in the debris of the wooden coaches of the Paris-Nancy train, smashed into bits by the Paris-Strasbourg express.

Just before the funeral the engineers and firemen of the Strasbourg express, both tested veterans, were freed on personal recognition after it had been established definitely that faulty signals and not human failure caused the wreck.

H. H. Cotton Brings Word From East

State Administrator Says No Official Request for City Hall Funds

ASSURANCE that the Newport harbor project fund of $1,335,441 would be included in a government grant as part of a $10,000,000 fund for Southern California projects was given residents of Orange county through The Register today by H. H. Cotton, chairman of the state public works administration, who just returned from Washington.

Cotton and Frank E. Trask, chief engineer for the state advisory board, predicted that a federal allotment of at least $21,000,000 for school reconstruction and other major projects in this area may be expected by the end of the week.

The first two allocations to Southern California, it was predicted, would be for $11,000,000 for the reconstruction of quake-damaged schools and $10,000,000 for other Southern California projects, of which the development of Newport harbor is one.

Orange county voters, at the recent election, pledged bond issues of $840,000 to aid the government in the proposed development of the harbor.

Cotton said he has received no official request for aid on the city hall project in Santa Ana. It is expected that request for aid will be made on completion of plans for the city hall building, which will be located at Third and Main streets at the old site.

M'ADOO'S DAUGHTER IS SERIOUSLY ILL

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27.—(UP) — William Gibbs McAdoo, junior senator from California, was en route to Washington by airplane today, unaware that his daughter, Mrs. Edward S. Cowles, was critically ill of pneumonia.

Senator McAdoo departed in his own plane yesterday before a telegram reached his office with news of Mrs. Cowles' illness. William H. McAdoo, the senator's law partner, said he did not attempt to communicate with him because he was already spending east.

The senator spent last night in Dallas, Tex., and was to continue to Washington by way of Atlanta today. He was due in the capital about 5 p. m., providing weather conditions did not force his plane down.

CATTLE ON TRACK CAUSE 5 DEATHS

HOUSTON, Tex., Dec. 27.—(UP) — Cattle standing on the Missouri-Pacific railroad track near Calvert Junction southwest of here, derailed a fast freight train today and brought death to five men.

The dead were Engineer R. J. DelHomme, 48, Fireman F. W. Wallace, 46, and brakeman O. W. Greene, all of Mart, and two unidentified transients.

Conductor H. Ferguson, riding in a rear car, escaped uninjured. The engine and eight cars left the track. Two and a half miles north of Calvert Junction, about 40 cars comprised the train.

ENDURANCE FLIERS ARE NEAR RECORD

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 27.—(UP) — Only about 40 hours separated Frances Harrell and Helen Richey from a new world's endurance flight record for women today as they neared their seventh day aloft.

The women fliers, up since 1:03 p. m. a week ago today, will set a new record at 8:09 p. m., tomorrow night if they stay aloft. The old mark of eight days, four hours and six minutes would be surpassed at 5:09 p. m. tomorrow but the fliers must stay up an hour longer in order for it to be official.

Rolph Hints He Will Again Be Candidate

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 27. — (UP) — Gov. James Rolph indirectly intimated today that he would be a candidate for re-election.

Rolph met State Treasurer Charles G. Johnson in a barber shop and afterwards said:

"It isn't very often that you'll find two candidates for governor sitting down and talking together."

Johnson, although not officially announced as a candidate, has been conducting a campaign which his friends say will be climaxed by his definite entrance into the gubernatorial race sometime in January.

OIL DICTATOR BEGINS SURVEY OF CRUDE COST

Approximately 2000 Questionnaires Mailed Out to Producers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—(UP) — Oil Administrator Ickes today outlined information to be sought from oil companies in a survey of the cost of producing crude oil.

Approximately 2,000 questionnaires were mailed to producing companies, asking for their cost of production and the value and volume of sales of oil and gas in 1931, 1932 and 1933.

"I wish to emphasize," said Ickes, "that the figures called for in this survey are not to be considered as connected with either the proposed pool and marketing agreements recently submitted to me, or the proposed price fixing schedule recommended by the planning and coordination committee representing the industry."

In requesting the 1933 figures, the administrator stipulated that they should be submitted in two groups, one for the nine months ending September 30, and the other for the three months ending December, 1931. In addition to costs and income, companies will be required to submit gross and net investments in lease holdings and equipment.

They must also cite the number of producing wells they own, the daily average production acreage on which oil can be produced, and their estimated reserves of oil below ground subject to recovery.

Among other points covered in the questionnaire, were, royalty payments, general and administrative expenses and current operating costs; depletion of holdings; amortization of drilling, and other developments costs; depreciation on tangible equipment; approximate gravity of the crude oil produced; a statement of capital employed in operations; dry oil drilled; wells abandoned; wells bought or sold; and the number of wells being drilled and the number shut in.

SLAYER CONVICTED; ORDERED TO HANG

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 27.—(UP) — Edward Anderson, 25, jauntily confessed slayer, was convicted of first degree murder today in one of the swiftest prosecutions on record here.

The jury verdict which found Anderson guilty of slaying Hewlett Tarr, Curran theater cashier, carried no recommendation for mercy, making a sentence of death by hanging mandatory.

The conviction came only 10 days after Anderson's arrest. He was captured in a gun battle which followed a bank robbery Dec. 18. Prosecuting officials moved swiftly to indict the prisoner, arraign him and start his trial in three successive days.

The jury of seven men and five women was selected, then the trial recessed until yesterday. The jurors received the case at 5:15 p. m. last night and returned their verdict after deliberating seven hours and 10 minutes.

DUNCAN GIRLS ARE DENIED BANKRUPTCY

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 27.—(UP) — Rosetta and Vivian Duncan, theatrical sister-team, were losers today in a fight to be discharged from their debts as bankrupts.

Federal Judge William P. James denied their claims to be dismissed as bankrupt victims after being told they neglected to account for all their earnings in book-keeping records.

The sisters had filed petitions in bankruptcy both as individuals and as a partnership. Their partnership petition listed liabilities of $405,997 and assets of $22,500. Vivian Duncan, former wife of Niles Asther, in her individual petition cited debts of $440,996 and assets of $25,327. Rosetta claimed liabilities of $411,757 as against $32,888 worth of assets.

Sixteen Men Missing Today in Tugboat Off Boston as 8 Drown in Michigan

48 BELOW REPORTED

Suffering and Death From Exposure Revealed in Many Parts of Nation

DEVASTATING cold and terrific winter blizzards took a toll of 115 lives as sub-zero cold spread over the nation in the wake of widespread storms.

Sixteen men were missing in a tugboat off Boston where the coast was lashed by furious north-east gales. It was feared the small craft foundered in the giant seas.

Eight men drowned in the icy waters of Lake Michigan when two small tugs sank with all hands while attempting to recover fishing nets. A third tug was beached and the crew swam through freezing breakers to safety.

Severest cold of the year brought suffering and death from exposure to many. In the midwest temperatures were as low as 30 to 35 degrees below zero. Lake Edward, Que., reported 48 degrees below zero and claimed the honor of being North America's coldest spot. It was 9 below zero in Chicago.

In Chicago, Blanche and Barbara Marshall, 15-months old twins, were smothered to death when their mother, Marie, put them in her own bed fearing they would freeze if left in their crib.

Trading on the Chicago fruits and vegetable, onion and potato markets was suspended because traders feared the vegetables would freeze if unloaded from freight cars.

The death toll of the floods and storms of the Pacific northwest was set at 24 and damage at $20,000,000. Authorities were fearful of additional deaths due to continued heavy landslides and snowdrifts which have taken eight lives since Sunday.

Relief Is Seen

Weather forecasters predicted a slight letup in the cold today and tonight but said the higher temperatures probably would bring renewed snowfall.

Communications services were close to normal today. Air transport companies reported all planes departing and arriving as usual in most districts. Trains were delayed somewhat by the cold and removal of snow from tracks.

In the Pacific northwest, where transcontinental service has been badly disrupted by the floods and landslides, trunk lines reporting conditions greatly improved.

The storm's death toll was widely distributed. A United Press check showed eight deaths in Michigan, 3 at Washington, D. C., 23 in the Pacific northwest, 3 in Western Pennsylvania, 12 in Minnesota and the Dakotas, 7 in Iowa, 2 in New York, 3 in New England, 15 in Wisconsin, 6 in Indiana, 20 in Chicago and Illinois, 7 in Ohio, and several other scattered fatalities.

OIL WORKER HANGS SELF IN BEACH GARAGE

J. A. La Costa, 69, employee of the Holly Oil company, and well-known in Orange county, committed suicide by hanging himself in his garage on the Holly Turley lease at Huntington Beach late yesterday afternoon. J. E. Erwin, an oil worker found the body at 6:05 p. m., and notified the police.

La Costa came to Huntington Beach 20 years ago as an employee of the Holly Sugar company and later for the Holly Oil company. In a letter found beside his body he left a will, naming relatives as beneficiaries and appointing Art Anderson, superintendent of Holly Oil company as executor of his will.

La Costa was unmarried and is said to own property in Oakland and to have had some cash in the bank. He is survived by a brother in Montreal. He is supposed to have been in poor health and to have worried over his physical and financial condition.

He hanged himself by tying a rope to the rafter of his garage on the Turley lease, climbing on a box and leaping off. The body is at the Dixon funeral parlors and Coroner Abbey will not hold an inquest.

La Costa was a member of the I. O. O. F. lodge of Coalinga, a member of the Eagles lodge of Coalinga and a member of the Elks lodge of Santa Ana.

James A. Mauheran, 37, R. D. Garden Grove, charged with drunken driving after an accident early yesterday on West Seventeenth street, was arraigned in justice court today and had his preliminary examination set for January 3 at 11 a. m.

Mauheran was driving on the wrong side of the road in a heavy fog, according to reports, and hit the machine of Harry J. Rainey, 26, Los Angeles. No one was hurt but Mauheran was booked at the county jail for driving drunk. He is being held under $1000 bail.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 27. (To the Editor of The Register:) I got my berries mixed up this morning. I mentioned Stotesbury, when I meant Atterbury. Now I don't know which one to apologize to.

They say Japan imitates us in everything, but they certainly didn't get this idea from us: "In appointing an Ambassador to the United States at this important time, with the 1936 crisis ahead, such consideration as dignity, past career and sentiment must be discarded and a man of ability appointed." Then they wonder why that country is going ahead. They appointed a fellow named Saito, who hadn't contributed a cent to the last campaign. That's political treason.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

and farm relief set-ups. They believed that the NRA, AAA and PWA were invested with adequate powers, and that proposed revision might cause prolonged congressional disputes.

Back Roosevelt House leaders said that from their conversations with returning members they were convinced that the heavily Democratic house will back President Roosevelt's program to the limit the coming session. Republicans avoided discussing the feeling toward the president back home but hammered at inequities of various recovery plans.

Indicative of the trend "not to rock the boat" was refusal of the foremost soldiers' bonus sponsors in the house to revive that controversial proposal this session unless they are assured of backing by the leadership. Rep. Patman and Rep. Rankin, Dem., Miss., both indicated they would not attempt the drive for the $2,000,000,000 payment otherwise.

ASK ADVICE OF BUSINESS MEN ON BUILDING

BULLETIN

After conferring with 20 business men at noon today, the city council decided to make application for a three-story city hall with full basement at Third and Main streets. Fifteen of the citizens asked for the three-story building while only four preferred a two-story structure. The council itself was divided but followed the consensus of those present.

Santa Ana's new city hall, authorized at the recent bond election, will be constructed under the supervision of Austin and Wildman, associated architects. It was decided last night by the city council at a special session of council members of the city planning commission, city officials and competing architects.

At the same time, the council called a meeting for noon today to enable business men to hear the architects discuss tentative plans and help the council decide whether the new building shall be two or three stories in height, with or without a basement and Class A or C in construction. The meeting was held at the Green Cat cafe.

Notified that his firm, which maintains headquarters in Long Beach had been named to draw the plans, H. C. Wildman of Santa Ana said that he could present complete preliminary sketches by next Tuesday to enable the application for federal funds to be sent to Washington in the near future. He also agreed to accept the appointment with the provision that if the federal loan should not be granted, he would be donating his services for whatever work had been done.

Architects appearing before the officials last night were Wildman, Frank Lansdown and Virgil Westbrook; Fred Eley, and Christian E. Choate, representing himself, R. C. Bowman and Louis Dixon, associated architects. Each explained their sketches, floor plans and specifications.

Alternate Plans

Wildman presented two alternate plans, a two-story building with basement and a three-story building with or without basement, each costing about $95,000. The three-story architects drawing was reproduced recently in The Register and seemed to be most favored by the officials present.

Wildman said that he considered the three-story building the most adaptable to the needs of the city and recommended it. The first floor would contain the city clerk and water departments on the front, police department and press room at the rear, recorder's court on the south and center, auditor on the center and north, entrances from the center and extreme south on the Main street side and another from Third street, a large lobby, elevator and stairways on the south. By lowering the recorder's court and rear of the building a few feet, a large mezzanine floor would be built at the rear, to include a police squad room, public rest rooms and auxiliary offices. It was tentatively decided, however, to put the rest rooms on the first floor or basement if possible.

The second floor, in the three-story building plan, contained the council chambers on the front of the building, extending up through the third floor, and the building inspectors, health, engineering, street, city attorney and other offices. Much of the third floor would be left unfinished to care for miscellaneous needs, storage, facilities for band practice, civic meetings and other needs.

The second floor under the two-story building plan would shift the council chambers to the east end with the other offices on the front and center.

Basement Auto Park

The basement in both buildings would be used for parking city cars, with a ramp adjacent to the alley on Third street. This would accommodate about 30 cars and clear the streets around the hall of municipal cars. Space would also be provided for storage and fingerprinting rooms for the police department.

Both buildings were designed with a tower, which is optional and would cost about $4000. Under Wildman's specifications, the two-story building could be entirely of class A construction while the three-story building, to be built under the $100,000 appropriation, would have a class A basement and class C building. There was considerable discussion on the different types of construction but it was pointed out by Wildman and Building Inspector W. J. Freble that class C construction withstood the recent earthquake satisfactorily.

It was explained that class A is solid concrete while class C has steel framework. Wildman said that steel is more resilient and adjustable to earth shocks while concrete beams might crack and make it difficult to locate the trouble. He said that modern fireproofing methods, including special plaster and other safeguards, make a class C building virtually fireproof. It was said that the Orange county jail and the two abstract and title buildings on North Main street are the only class A buildings in the city.

Oil Companies Boost Gas Prices Again

Following the lead of the Standard Oil company in new prices announced last night, all major oil companies in Santa Ana and Southern California announced that a two-cent price boost was in effect today, making the new quotations 17 cents for third grade fuel, 19-1-2 for first grade gasoline and 21-1-2 cents for premium and ethyl gas.

Tank wagon prices will not be affected by the new price structure, it was stated. Motorists, in the face of the last price increase, derived scant satisfaction in the new that the one-half cent federal tax on gasoline will be eliminated after January 1.

city clerk and water department on the front of the first floor, police and recorder's court at the rear, and on the second floor, council chambers, mayor's office, engineering department and auditor. In the basement were rest rooms, police squad room, store rooms, police squad room, store for an outlay of $80,000.

Lansdown Plan

Lansdown, representing Lansdown and Westbrook, had a two-story plan with a recessed entrance and public lobby 75 by 50 feet. The city clerk and water department were on the north, the mayor's office and auditor on the south, police court and police department at the rear and a ramp for cars leading to the basement on the south and rear. The council chamber was on the front of the second floor behind an open balcony. Other second floor offices were for the engineer, inspectors, city attorney and newspapermen.

The third floor, if built, would have the council chamber extending through it, and extra offices built at the rear. He also suggested that the rear of the third story could be eliminated. The cost of the two-story building with one-half basement, was $88,000 to $90,000 while the third story, $120,000.

Croate emphasized, as did Wildman, that his plans could be converted into a commercial building should the city hall ever be moved to another site. He had a two-story plan with full basement with storage for 20 cars, rest rooms, storage, police squad and many in the basement. The first floor contained a large lobby, recorder's court in the center, police department at the rear, clerk, assessor and water department on the north, and a chamber of commerce or industrial exhibit room on the south. Two cell blocks for prisoners were on the first floor and eight on the third floor.

The second floor had the council room, mayor's office, street, auditor, health, city attorney, engineer and inspecting departments while the third floor was chiefly for band practice, extra offices, storage and unfinished rooms. The building would cost about $98,000 and could be converted at a cost of only $6000.

Testifying last year before the senate stock market investigating committee, Dawes said his bank had loans outstanding to the Insull companies and individuals connected with them of almost $12,000,000.

He testified all had been turned over to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation as collateral on the loan.

Loans Listed

At that time, Dawes listed the loans, showing some of the larger ones were $500,000 to the Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee Railroad; $1,058,000 to the Consolidated Properties Trust; $263,000 to Martin J. Insull, $500,000 to Samuel Insull and $2,840,286 to the Insull Utility Investments, Inc., and Investment Trust.

Questioned by members of the committee, Dawes conceded that in lending so much to the Insull group his bank had violated the principle of the law which forbids a bank from lending more than 10 or 15 per cent of its capital and surplus to a single borrower.

The total capital and surplus of his bank at the time, he said, was $27,000,000.

Gets Jail Term For Damaging Car

Robert Brown, 21, charged with damaging a car without the owner's consent, was given a six-month sentence in the county jail by Judge Kenneth E. Morrison this morning, with three months suspended and two years probation added. Brown, booked for drunkenness, resisting an officer and petty theft on Saturday night, had broken the window of a car with a wine jug and fought bystanders until police arrived, according to police reports.

The emotional adjustment of women to the demands of modern life is important not only to individual women but to society as a whole. Dr. M. Esther Harding discusses this in "The Way of All Women."

Dr. Harding is an English physician who has turned her attention to psychoanalysis since the war. She follows specifically the teachings of Jung. Her book was written after years of listening to women. Too few books about women begin from such an angle.

From her wide experience Dr. Harding is able to make clearer to us the emotional relationships and spiritual conflicts that arise when feminine instinct is thwarted by the complexities of our modern civilization. She discusses two types of women—the man's woman and the woman who is not the man's woman. She discusses the ghostly lover (an escape fantasy from the realities of everyday life), and talks variously about work, friendship, marriage, and maternity, emotional involvements outside of marriage, the art of growing old and finally the general problem of psychological relationships.

The books will be found valuable for adult readers of either sex. It is also one that a mother may give her daughter or a father his son with the safe assurance that it will in its notable intelligence help in the difficult adjustment to life. For the woman reader it opens up a new world and points out new paths to her own emotional and spiritual development. It will help her to realize her life to its full and to attain to her own highest measure of happiness and successful living.

The death of Sara Teasdale early this year was a blow to poetry lovers. Her volume of poems published since her death will be of great interest to many readers. It includes all of her unpublished poems which she wished to have included in a book. Even the title "Strange Victory" was chosen by her and set down in a small notebook. The last of a long line of poems which she had filled with her exquisite poems since she began to write.

The last poem which she wrote is strangely fitting. "There Will Be Rest" shines over the rooftops, crowned with snow. A reign of rest, serene forgetting. The music of stillness holy and low. I will make this world of my devising. Out of a dream in my lonely mind, I shall find the crystal of peace—above me. Stars I shall find.

These poems—a number of them written shortly before her death—have extraordinary beauty and significance. In "Strange Victory" she has achieved something beyond which she has done before. It is as if the spirit had been winnowed to its essentials. Never once is the voice of the poet raised in an effort to communicate; the serenity of greatness is

$65,000 BOND BEFORE VOTERS ON JANUARY 23

Santa Ana voters will go to the polls January 23 to express their wishes in connection with the rehabilitation of school buildings damaged by the earthquake of March 10. There will be two propositions on the ballot for the plebiscite. One proposition will ask for an expression in regard to repairing damage at the high school and junior high schools at a cost not to exceed $500,000 and the other will ask the same question in connection with the elementary schools, at a cost not to exceed $115,000.

Funds come from the R. F. C. earthquake reconstruction fund as a loan and a contract for $615,000 has been signed by the board.

Discussing the form of propositions that should go on the ballot members of the board had a sharp difference of opinion over whether or not Spurgeon school, declared to be the worst damaged elementary school in the city, should be repaired or closed entirely and the children sent to other schools in the district.

W. M. Burke moved that Spurgeon school be eliminated from the plan for rehabilitation. He said that he made the motion because he had been informed by two school superintendents that the Santa Ana school system could function without Spurgeon through building additions to three or four other schools. He declared that in his opinion the city is overhailed with 14 plants now in operation when, in his opinion, nine schools would be more efficient. He held that to build additions to three or four other schools to replace the Spurgeon building could be accomplished without so much capital outlay.

Suggestion Offered
Rolla Hays attacked the plan declaring that Spurgeon school is the largest elementary school in the city and located in the heart of the fastest growing section of the city. He declared that he opposed the plan because there was no economy in doing away with the school when the money will have to be spent on other buildings to prepare them to accommodate additional students.

Burke proposed to withdraw his motion and this move also was opposed by Hays on the grounds that it would be wrong to bring up the question without taking some action. He declared that the people in the area should be assured of what the board intended to do with the school before they go to the polls. If they do not know, Hays declared they will defeat the building program at the polls. The motion finally was withdrawn.

Hays and Burke clashed again over wording of the proposition relative to the high school district. The proposition as suggested and finally approved over Burke's dissenting vote was: "Shall the Santa High School District incur an indebtedness, not exceeding $500,000 in rehabilitating or rebuilding earthquake damaged buildings in the Junior and Senior High School groups in conformity with law."

Hays Makes Motion
Acceptance of the proposition as worded was made on motion of Hays and seconded by Dr. Margaret Baker. Burke declared he opposed adoption of wording to go on the ballot as it was "absolutely misleading and because he knew that an almost infinitesimal amount of money is to be spent on one of the junior high school buildings. The major portion of the money is to be spent on the high school group and the voters will not know it if that form goes on the ballot." He declared that inclusion of Willard school was just bait to catch voters.

Hays again opposed him and declared that the people should know before going to the polls, that no building where work is necessary will be left out of the program, even if the amount to be spent is not more than $50.

A proposal on the issue covering elementary buildings was adopted unanimously.

It was decided last night that the election will be held in consolidated precincts and that members of the Parent Teachers Association would be named as election officials. The Parent Teacher group had previously offered to serve at the polls without pay. The election officials will be named by Dr. Baker, Superintendent of Schools, Frank Henderson and Business Manager George Newcom.

An appeal for assistance by donating money to relieve sufferers in two states, Washington and Idaho, whose homes were damaged or ruined by floods, was received here today in a telegram from American Red Cross headquarters in San Francisco to Terry E. BOARD NAMES SEALER: POSTS CONSOLIDATED

J. A. Randel, formerly assistant sealer of weights and measures was named to the position of sealer of weights and measures late yesterday by the board of supervisors.

Randel will succeed his chief, J. Fred Sidebottom who recently resigned to accept a position with the state board of equalization. Ray Starbuck of Fullerton was named assistant sealer. Salary for each office was set at $127.50 monthly.

Following appointment of the two officers the board declared the office to be under control of Agricultural Commissioner Dixon Tubbs, elective January 1, 1934. In the past the sealer of weights and measures has operated as a separate unit of the county government. The consolidation was made for the purpose of economy as annual Randel and Starbuck, in the future, in their spare time, serve under the Agriculture department.

The board also adopted a resolution yesterday consolidating the offices of County Livestock Inspector and County Meat Inspector. Dr. John H. Bower will continue in both posts as he has since last June. The offices unofficially have been consolidated since July. The adoption of a resolution makes the consolidation official. The combined posts carry an annual salary of $2700.

Thief Gets Loot In Cafe Robbery

Unnoticed in the first excitement regarding the attempted robbery of the safe in Reid's cafe, 104 East Fourth street, nine cartons of cigarettes were stolen by the thief who entered the building Monday night. It was learned by police today.

The intruder dragged the safe to a private dining room and knocked off the combination but was unable to open the door. Entrance was gained to the cafe after the thief had climbed over a rear wall barricade on an adjoining building under construction, walked in to the basement, broke down a connecting door and entered the cafe.

Hays again opposed him and declared that the people should know before going to the polls, that no building where work is necessary will be left out of the program, even if the amount to be spent is not more than $50.

A proposal on the issue covering elementary buildings was adopted unanimously.

TUBERCULOSIS SEAL SALE'S LAGGING HERE

Although the $5000 mark has been passed, the campaign to sell Christmas Seals in Orange county, sponsored by the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health Association, Ltd., still is $1100 behind the amount received at this same time last year, it was announced today.

Last year the Christmas Seal sale drive brought in a total of $5000 for the campaign and at this same time last year a total of $6100 had been received through the sale of the seals.

Out of 34,000 sets of stamps mailed out in Orange county at the outset of the campaign, there still are 16,000 persons who have not been heard from, it was stated.

In a statement made today by Mrs. Glen A. Young, secretary, it was declared that it is not too late for the remittance of those who delayed before Christmas to mail in their returns for Christmas Seals.

"There still are 16,000 of the persons mailed Christmas Seals that we have not heard from," Mrs. Young said. "We are naturally very anxious to start the New Year with the feeling that Orange county has cooperated again with financial and moral support as splendidly as they have in the past."

Home At Laguna Menaced By Fire

The home of George Rosener, screen writer, at 183 Dumond drive, Laguna Beach, was menaced by fire Tuesday afternoon when an overheated hearthstone ignited the studding under the fireplace. A great deal of smoke was created and the firemen had difficulty in reaching the seat of the trouble because of the construction of the building. The damage was not heavy.

INSANE PATIENTS INCREASING AT RATE OF 10,000 YEARLY

PASADENA, Cal., Dec. 27.—Ten thousand additional beds are needed in the hospitals of the United States each year, to care for the increase in insane patients.

This is the report of the Human Betterment Foundation which is urging more effort at prevention through the sterilization in selected cases of persons whose offspring will be likely to become insane.

"Every effective measure must be used," it declares, "to reduce this increasing burden, which not only creates immense misery, but costs the tax payers more than a billion dollars a year. Many patients can be cured, but prevention is better yet."

New Test Device Used For Check Of Radio Tubes

Poor radio reception is often wrongly diagnosed by set owners and dealers as static or electrical interference when the trouble is really inefficient tube operation according to Jack Campbell, local manager of the Western Auto Supply Company.

A radio tube tester that is said to detect every defect in radio tubes instantly and visibly so that any radio owner can understand what is wrong with the tubes at a glance has been installed in the radio department of the Santa Ana Western Auto store.

This tester, known as the "Selectometer," is said to be one of the first devices which tests radio tubes under the same conditions as those met in set operation, and translates the trouble into terms understandable by all radio set owners. "Selectometer" is equipped to test all radio tubes down to the newest types, including the ultra-modern "Dual" type tube.

An invaluable feature of the machine is a built-in noise test. This is of particular importance in testing automobile radio tubes, which receive so much vibration. Campbell declares that the "Selectometer" shows up noisy tubes which often are mistaken for uncontrollable static noises.

KINSLOW OPENS MACHINE WORKS BUSINESS HERE

H. M. Kinslow today opened the Kinslow Motor Parts and Machine works at 762 East First street in the building formerly occupied by the G. M. C. Truck company.

For the last 30 days Kinslow has been buying and setting up machinery of the very latest type for handling cylinder grinding, re-boring, pistons, valves, starter gears and general automotive machine works. Other machinery will be installed until every precision machine requirement on autos, trucks, and tractors can be handled in the shortest possible time with the greatest accuracy, he said.

Automotive parts will be added as fast as the latest lines and connections are made.

After following other lines of endeavor for the last two years Kinslow feels that the tide has now turned for the better and that business is on a steady increase and will increase until what is termed "normalcy" has been reached and he has decided that now is the time to get back into the automotive business.

Kinslow helped install the first machinery for the re-grinding of cylinders on the Pacific coast in 1912 and brought the first cylinder grinder to Santa Ana when he opened for business across from the Broadway theater in the Pine building in 1914. He operated the Kinslow Machine works for 18 consecutive years.

One feature of the new Kinslow shop is the absence of any overhead belt or countershafting thus making for light, safety and accuracy, he said.

CROWDS NOTE IMPROVEMENT IN NEW BUICK

Motorists of this city today thronged the showrooms of Reid Motor company to see the new 1934 Buick and its introduction of the revolutionary knee-action wheel principle, together with other striking engineering advancements blended into the most forward styling in the 30 years of Buick history. In interest and effect, it was an important event as that day 10 years ago when Buick presented the four-wheel brake to the automobile industry.

Automobile development up to this time has centered upon motor, transmission and body. Now comes the first fundamental change in front-wheel suspension to bring this long-overlooked and highly essential phase up to the 1934 standards of the remainder of the car. It is pointed out by W. R. Gordon, manager.

The new front-wheel spring suspension, giving the wheels independent action without submitting shocks to the frame or the steering, does not alter the front-end appearance.

With interest centering upon the knee-action wheels, the showroom visitors find that this advancement has been achieved only by the redesigning of the entire chassis. The conventional front axle that was a heritage from the first horse-drawn wagon is gone. In its place is a sturdy built frame cross-member. In explaining this feature, it is declared that the Buick front-end construction is stronger in the 1934 cars than in any previous models because of the elemental changes.

Each front wheel is independently carried on an individual, frictionless coil spring. That permits the wheel to rise over an obstruction vertically without affecting the other wheel or transmitting the shock to any other part of the car.

Moving into a depression, the wheel lowers without pulling the front end of the car with it. The spiral springs are synchronized to work with the rear springs. Instead of twice as fast as in the case of the conventional, shorter leaf-spring such as has been used heretofore. The front springs of the new Buick and the longer rear springs work together. That prevents the "bucking" and towing of the rear seat which is caused by the former type of unit "fighting" each other.

To further transform riding into gliding, the Buick engineers introduced this year, a ride stabilizer to prevent body sway, even on sharp fast curves. This device, operating near the rear axle, holds the body through automatic operation. This with air cushion tires wholly changes the former ideas of motoring comfort, according to Gordon.

Buick engineers have gone to new lengths to increase automatic operation. When the ignition switch is turned on, the choke and starter operation are taken care of by the car itself. No levers or buttons to pull or push. And as long as the ignition switch is on the motor will be kept in operation. Should the engine be stalled, it will immediately and automatically be re-started.

The route from Pasadena is via Colorado Boulevard to Lake street, thence north on Lake, where traffic officers will direct motorists to the trees. The best time to see the row is during the early evening as traffic is not so congested at that time.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG -- News Behind The News --

WASHINGTON
By George Durno

G. O. P.
It keeps a fellow jumping to play this game of politics. If he doesn't keep his back in a corner and his guard up every minute he's apt to get socked in the neck.

Take the case of Walter E. Edge, former U. S. Senator from New Jersey and more recently Ambassador to France. The boys on the inside of the Republican party's maneuvering say privately that a New York gentleman named Charles D. Hillis played Edge a downright dirty trick.

As has been recorded here and elsewhere, some of the G. O. P. stalwarts have been wanting to lose Everett Sanders out as Chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Most informally such men as former Secretary of Treasury Ogden Mills, Senator David L. Reed of Pa., Senator Charles L. McNary of Ore., former Ambassador to Germany Frederick M. Sackett and Senator Frederic C. Walcott of Conn. had toyed with Edge's name to succeed Sanders.

As the story trickles out, Hillis—himself quite a figure in the National Committee—got wind of the movement. Those back of it seem to believe Hillis would like the job himself.

In any event, they claim the New Yorker tipped off some of his newspaper friends to what was going on. The stories that ensued forced Edge to issue a public disclaimer he was seeking the chairmanship.

Hillis has a reputation as a money-raiser. Even though some of the Republican bigwigs aren't keen about him as boss this very fact may bring them to him eventually.

The party is badly broke. It owes about a quarter of a million with no money in sight at the moment. Things got so bad recently that some of the workers at headquarters here were being forced to skip paydays.

Finally John Cal O'Laughlin (Chairman Sanders' chief aide) went out and shook Andy Mellon down for $25,000. He got $20,000 in other quarters. Things are running again—but some of the employees have taken as high as a 70 per cent pay cut.

All of this points more strongly than ever to the probability Sanders will remain as Chairman for some time to come. He can't be unsated without a meeting of the committee.

Either he calls it (which he won't) or a majority of the executive committee issues the call over his head.

There isn't much chance they'll do this until they can agree on a new Chairman. They're far from agreement now.

BORAH

There's another gentleman who who will either have a lot to say about the ultimate G. O. P. helmsman or make a lot of noise in falling.

He is William E. Borah, the lone wolf from Idaho.

Senator Borah is about the only Progressive Republican who managed to stay inside party lines last election. He'll get flowers and candy daily from the Regulars in an effort to keep him there during the coming session and the bi-election.

While the Republicans are remaining temporarily quiet and waiting for "the economic errors of the Roosevelt administration to accumulate"—as advised by Herbert Hoover from Palo Alto—they will devote no little attention to wooing the insurgents at least back to their midway position in the Congressional setup.

They have a feeling President Roosevelt isn't going to be able to satiate all of the demands such men as Norris of Neb., LaFollette of Wis., Cutting of N. Mex. and Shipstead of Minn. will make at next week's session.

They're fervently hoping so at any rate. At first sign of a break in the Democratic-Progressive coalition they'll be right on the spot offering succor to their left-wing brothers.

Considering the spot the Republicans are in at the moment they can't be sure the Roosevelt program is going to fail.

Individually and collectively they expect it to but the crack hasn't yet appeared in the dike.

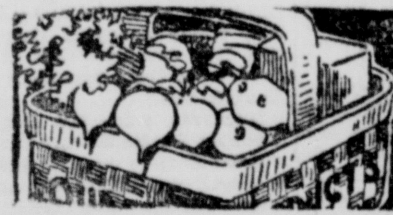

When it does they won't be there with a thumb. They have a pickaxe all ready.

BAILIE

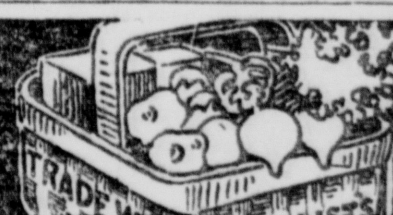

The administration has caucused itself and decided to go to the mat with Senator Couzens of Michigan if he decides to make a real issue of Charlie Hillis' presence in the Treasury Department.

As the news columns have told you the Michigan Republican is incensed that a man who was

ARCH BEACH SEWER PROJECT DECISION DUE IN 10 DAYS

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 27.—Although a last minute opposition was raised against it by a group of citizens living in the district, and who first wired and then mailed a petition to Washington, the board of review of the finance division of the public works administration granted a rehearing in the application of the city council for a loan and grant of $180,000 to complete the Arch Beach main line sewer and treatment plant, for which bonds were voted by the people of the district.

A communication received yesterday from N. E. West, sent to Washington by the city council as a special emissary, said that the hearing was held last Friday and lasted two hours. He was given every courtesy by the six members of the board and was permitted to answer the objections raised in the opposition petition, he reported. The petition to reopen the case was prepared by

J. L. Beabe of the firm of O'Melveny, Tuller and Myers, Los Angeles attorneys, for the council. According to West, the six members of the board were surprisingly thorough in their work, and in his opinion the board was carrying out President Roosevelt's promise that the administration will give ear to all who asked to be heard on matters of importance.

West said some question was raised as to the nature of the security back of the loan. He was able to answer the question. A decision will be given in about 10 days, but whichever way it goes the final decision is with Secretary Ickes.

West arrived in Washington the morning of December 17. Hamilton H. Cotton, head of the public works board in California, was leaving that afternoon for Los Angeles but took the time to introduce the Laguna man to the authorities with whom he was to confer.

PLACENTIA CIVIC BODY IN ANNUAL MEETING ON JAN. 10

PLACENTIA, Dec. 27.—Arrangements were made yesterday to hold the annual meeting of the Placentia Chamber of Commerce January 19 at a place to be arranged later. The meeting was advanced to accommodate the directors and members of the chamber who are also members of the Placentia Mutual Orange association, for a membership meeting is scheduled for it January 9.

John Tuffree, member of the program committee for the annual meeting, announced the change at the meeting yesterday. Frank Rosapaw was host of the day, having as special guests newspaper men of Orange county, and John Long, manager, and Edith R. Allen, secretary, of the California Newspaper Publishers' association.

Long talked for a short time on the press of the country.

Long brought out the need of the press in keeping away a dictatorship that would suppress people and said the reason he feels certain that the press can do it is that of the 350 papers in the association, no two editors feel alike, and all express themselves.

The fact that newspaper advertising is "looking up" is indicative that times are better, he said, declaring that the newspaper is a barometer of a town. He declared that another indication things are improving is that five per cent more Christmas buying was done this year than last year. He gave praise to Orange county for passing the Newport harbor bonds.

'CHURCH, WAR' DISCUSSED AT CLUB MEETING

COSTA MESA, Dec. 27.—Quoting from Prof. Glenn Frank's book, "Thunder and Dawn," where the author says: "The church can run the risk of losing its life as a popularly supported institution, by attempting to apply with uncompromising realism, the test of spiritual values to the public affairs of the time," the Rev. W. I. Lowe, speaking before the Lions club yesterday on the topic, "The Church and War," stated that the church would refuse to sanction, bless, or take part in any war.

The pastor declared he believed that Mr. Frank was right in saying he believed the church should adopt this policy. The speaker said he felt that the church is more and more taking that stand, pointing to pronouncements in which many of the churches have indicated that they believe that war is unchristian and has become the supreme enemy of mankind. He stated he believed with Mr. Frank that anything less than the church making a clean and courageous cutting loose from the whole war business would at best be a slow suicide for it.

Next week's program will be a symposium on the subject "Who Killed Prohibition?" It was announced by the program chairman, George Ragan. Nine club members will speak briefly on the subject.

President Leroy Anderson was in charge of the meeting.

RECEIVE PERMIT FOR 400 WATT POLICE RADIO

Orange county board of supervisors yesterday received an official permit from the federal radio commission to construct a police and emergency radio station. Announcement that the permit had been granted was made unofficially through the newspapers several weeks ago. Work is expected to start within the next 10 days on the plant which is estimated will cost $900.

According to requirements of the permit work of installing the station must be under way by January 8, 1934, and must be completed by April 8, next year. The permit was granted for operation of a 400 watt station on a frequency of 2430 kilocycles with unlimited hours of operation. The station was designated by the radio commission as a "Municipal Police and Emergency" station.

Supervisors said no action on selection of an operator would be taken until after the meeting of the League of Municipalities Thursday night.

Because there were no offers submitted for the Westminster school bonds opening of bids was continued for three weeks on motion of Supervisor John Mitchell.

E. W. Mahl, county building inspector since the earthquake of March 10 was formally appointed county building inspector yesterday on motion of Supervisor Mitchell. This formal appointment was necessary under the recently adopted county building code as his previous appointment had never had more than a temporary status. He will receive $5 per day and work five days per week under the new appointment. The salary will include the use of his automobile.

Requested by County Surveyor Warren K. Hillyard the supervisors voted to allow his department $2.50 daily for the rental of an automobile. Hillyard said that increased work because of CWA projects under control of his department made it necessary for his department to have another automobile. The automobile will be rented from one of the employees of the surveyor.

The automobile will be used for hauling men and tools to the various jobs in county areas and Hillyard said that it would be difficult to find one of the men who would operate their automobile in the rough territory for which it will be used and haul tools and equipment for the county mileage rate of four and one-half cents per mile. He had asked for an allowance of 10 cents per mile but this was objected to by Supervisor Mitchell who said that he would rather rent the automobile on a daily pay basis than increase the amounts paid for mileage.

A Real Advance in Motor Car Engineering

De Luxe Ford Sedan. One of eleven handsome new body types, all with V-8 cylinder motor

New Dual Carburetion and Dual Intake Manifold add to power and economy of the New Ford V-8 for 1934

LIKE a pair of lungs for this powerful motor, this new system of carburetion and intake supplies vaporized gasoline evenly to all eight cylinders. Two distinct advantages result from it:

1. More even compression of fuel, giving still greater power, faster acceleration, quicker starting and smoother performance in cold weather.
2. More complete utilization of fuel, more miles to the gallon of gasoline, with consequent economy. Crankcase dilution is reduced to a minimum, thereby conserving oil with still further economy in operation.

Increased efficiency at less cost is a notable achievement. Yet it is only one of many improvements which distinguish this new and greater Ford V-8 for 1934.

Clear-vision Ventilation. Constant Supply of Fresh Air without Drafts or Obstruction to View
As perfected in the New Ford, this system of ventilation operates efficiently at all speeds, winter or summer.

In cold or stormy weather, the new adjustable window ventilators can be opened the desired amount to provide fresh air. Individual control on front door and rear-quarter windows enables passengers to obtain desired ventilation without causing discomfort to others. Windshield and windows do not fog when ventilators are opened.

In warm weather, the windshield—which opens—and the cowl ventilator provide additional fresh air.

COUNTY GETS LIQUOR CAUSES APPROPRIATION 30 CONSECUTIVE OF $66,088.18 JAIL BOOKINGS

Santa Claus did not forget Orange county during the happy Christmas season. Yesterday the board of supervisors acknowledged receipt of funds amounting to more than $65,000. A portion of the "gift" however is a loan through the R. F. C. and only its arrival at the present time listed it among the gifts.

The board was notified that the county hospital had received $6088.18 as the tuberculosis subsidy from the State Department of Public Health for the half year ending June 30, last.

The board also was notified that approximately $60,000, the balance of the $131,000 borrowed from the state for direct relief to match a similar appropriation by the county, arrived yesterday. The county supervisors previously received $71,000 of the fund which is practically all spent at this time.

GOLF ENDURANCE CHAMP
EDINBURGH, Scotland, (UP)—Bruce Sutherland, who made a world's golf endurance record, is dead. Sutherland in 1926 played 14 rounds of golf in 23 1/2 hours. Acetylene lamps and advance watchers helped him to play in the darkness.

Six men were booked at the county jail yesterday, on liquor violations, making a consecutive total on jail records of 30 arrests since Saturday on similar offenses. Peter Larson, 41, 301 Fruit street and Robert P. McClellan, 42, were both arrested for drunkenness at Fourth and French streets, Larson at noon by Officer W. A. Swain and McClellan last night by Officer C. E. Neer.

J. J. Shipman, 42, 735 West Grand avenue, Pomona, was booked by Fullerton police to serve a 25-day sentence for drunken driving, imposed by Judge Halsey L. Spence of Fullerton.

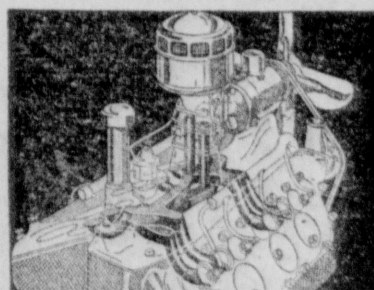

Gildardo Gomez, 37, Santa Ana, was booked to serve a five-day sentence for drunkenness yesterday and paid the $10 fine late in the afternoon to secure his release. Dallas Freble, 35, 1720 West Ninth street, who concluded a 5-day sentence for drunkenness on December 18, was rearrested last evening by Officers W. H. Heard and Harry Prichard at Sixth and Main streets and booked for intoxication. He has been jailed on the same offense several times in recent months.

Bert Bogher, 34, R. D. Anaheim, was arrested for drunkenness at 9 o'clock last night when Deputy Sheriff Fred Swazey and Steve Duhart found him sitting in a car parked in a cabbage patch on Crescent avenue. There were no keys in the car so the officers towed the machine to an Anaheim garage.

Christmas Eve Brings Double Celebration To Harts

Christmas Eve was the occasion for double celebration in the H. C. Hart household, 841 North Birch street, since the date brought the 57th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Hart, residents of this city for the past several years. Their children and grandchildren were home for the observance.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart were married December 24, 1876 in Illinois, and the eastern state furnished a wintry setting contrasting greatly with Southern California's sunshine on the 57th anniversary of that ceremony.

In 1880 Mr. and Mrs. Hart moved from Illinois to Edgar, Neb., where they first farmed, then later moved into the city where Mr. Hart first engaged in the grain business. Later he went into the State bank of Edgar, serving that institution for a number of years as president.

In 1918, just 15 years from the date they had moved to Edgar, Mr. Hart retired from the bank, and with his family went to Lincoln, Neb., so that his sons and daughters might further their education. From there they moved to Santa Ana, and since their arrival here have made their home at the Birch street address.

With Mr. and Mrs. Hart for the celebration were their daughter, Mrs. Ben Goodin of San Francisco; a son, Charles Hart and Mrs. Hart, Los Angeles; a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Butler Hart and children, Deane of Santa Ana, Ben and Anne Hart of Los Angeles; Miss Florence Willis of Santa Barbara and Joe McMahon of Philadelphia.

MR. AND MRS. H. C. HART

Surrounded by a family group, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hart, 841 North Birch street, celebrated their 57th wedding anniversary on Christmas Eve. They recalled the snowy day in 1876 when their happy married life had its start at a ceremony held in Illinois. Together they have spent interesting years which are finding a happy climax in Southern California.

Members of Sorority Are Told News of Betrothal

A surprise climax to the Christmas party shared the past week by Beta Sigma Phi sorority members in the home of Mrs. John Tessmann, 309 East Seventeenth street, was the announcement of Miss Juanita Fowler's engagement to Joe S. Dunn of Long Beach, made in the traditional manner, through the delivery of a box of candy to the sorority president, Miss Dorothy Lindsay.

Chapter members took part in a most enjoyable "Mother Goose" Christmas. At the conclusion of various appropriate games was an exchange of gifts superintended by the hostess, Mrs. Tessmann. The final gift was the prophetic box of candy, and immediately Miss Fowler was called upon for more details of her romance. She displayed her lovely solitaire, and admitted the choice of March as her wedding month.

Miss Fowler is the daughter of Mrs. F. L. Beery of Orange, and graduated from Orange Union High school, later taking a business course at Johnson's Secretarial school of this city.

Among her interests in addition to the sorority, is the Boot and Spur club, as she is a skillful equestrienne. Her fiancé finished high school in Occidente, the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Dunn, and was president of the Letterman's club of his school.

Concluding the pleasant evening with its surprise climax, Mrs. Tessmann served hot mince pie and English wassail as the chapter members drew around the cheerful fire.

Present in addition to Mrs. Tessmann, Mrs. Newell Moore, leader, Mrs. P. E. Coulter and Miss Beulah May, sponsors, were the Misses Dorothy Lindsay, president; Juanita Fowler, Ione Hanson, Lynette Robb, Lillie Forsberg, Katherine Spicer, Laura Malin, Loretta Einspahr, Hazel Lee, Delphina Lopez, Mary Ford, Lucile McDermott, Elsie Siemsen, Mary Louise Wallace, Mildred Staples, Lillian McDonald and Marie LeBouchere.

Several members of the Santa Ana chapter Beta Sigma Phi, attended the Christmas dance given by Nu and Rho chapters, Pasadena, at Alhambra Athletic clubhouse. The dance was a most enjoyable affair, drawing attendance from various chapters of the Southland. Another recent event of interest was when officers of the different chapters were entertained at a breakfast in the Little Theater of

Sorority Chapter Has Holiday Party for Initiates

With the holiday season lending its glamor to the occasion, Kappa Delta Phi sorority members entered with enthusiasm into the formal initiation of pledges at a delightful affair given in the home of Miss Frances Henry. The rites formed a sequel to the informal initiation held in conjunction with a house party at Balboa over a week end.

In the ritualistic work, the pledges received corsages of tea roses, the national flower of the organization, and their Kappa Delta Phi recognition pins. For the remainder of the evening, members old and new joined in playing bridge in which Miss Louise Pee scored high with Miss Jerry Beach second. Each received a pretty prize.

The prevalence of Christmas decorations in the home established the motif for the remainder of the evening, including the refreshment interval when Miss Henry was assisted in serving by the Misses Sylvia Weethes and Helen Tyner. This was followed by the arrival of Santa Claus who distributed gifts among all present.

Initiation rites of the mid-winter will add the Misses Vivian Van Norman, Jerry Beach, Helen Tyner, Sylvia Weethes and Agnes Kolander to the chapter, and the five will be complimented at a formal dinner dance at the mid-year convention in the Santa Barbara Billmore, on January 20.

At the initiation party with Miss Henry, guests were the Misses Louise Pee, Marcene Cook, Estelle Schlesinger, Sylvia Weethes, Vivian Van Norman, Agnes Kolander, Helen Tyner, Jerry Beach, Mrs. Charles Woodfill and Mrs. Madeleine Crumley.

Torosa P. N. G. Group Meets for Holiday Luncheon

A covered dish luncheon on the holiday theme started the day's festivities for Torosa Past Noble Grands when they met recently with Mrs. Laura Kesemann, 1322 Durant street.

Immediately after luncheon came the election of officers before the social features of the afternoon. Mrs. Mary Cowley was named president; Mrs. Maude Swarthout, vice-president; Mrs. Ada Spencer, secretary, and Mrs. Blanche Chandler, treasurer.

With business concluded, members and guests turned their attention to the pleasures of a gift exchange, assembling near a beautifully decorated and lighted tree while Miss Margaret Sawyer, granddaughter of their hostess, served as chief helper to Santa Claus and distributed the attractively wrapped gifts in which members exchanged their greetings.

Mrs. Martha Van de Walker, soon to be installed as noble grand of Torosa Rebekah lodge, was a special guest, while included in the guest list were Mrs. Frank Sawyer and Miss Margaret Sawyer of the home, and Mrs. Laura Tramel. Past Noble Grands present were Mesdames Ethel Brown, Belle Buck, Ida Carey, Mary Cooper, Mary Cowley, Laura Kesemann, Mary Kuhl, Fannie Lacy, Maude Lentz, Lillie Lyman, Martha McKee, Zella Murray, Ada Spencer, Maude Swarthout, Carrie Tope, Jean Tremble and Mary Watkins.

INTEREST ABOVE THE WAIST-LINE
PATTERN 1740
BY ANNE ADAMS

Fashion created the most flattering silhouette for women when it dictated interest above the waistline. As in this stunning afternoon frock—one you'll adore to wear at all informal get-togethers—there's lovely neckline, bodice and sleeve detail, while hips remain unimportant and slender. Fashion the chic drop shoulder yoke of contrast—it's quite the vogue to combine fabrics as well as colors—and trim with colored buttons. The small sketch shows you another way of making the sleeves, shorter and gracefully flared.

Pattern 1740 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 3 3/4 yards 39 inch fabric and 5-8 yard contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included. Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE.

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Dinner
Pot roast, 2 1/2 lb. slices
2 potato pancakes (see yesterday's recipe for the day)
4 stalks broccoli with 1 tbsp. lemon butter
Hearts of lettuce with Diced tomato and French dressing
Tea with lemon and saccharine. Calory total, 470.

Pot roast I need not describe—neither do potato pancakes—deserve any room today—they were fully covered yesterday. Broccoli, a cross between cauliflower, brussels sprouts and plebeian cabbage, gives us a welcome change from Ol' Man Spinach. Cook it as you would asparagus, and serve with lemon butter. . . . That's just melted butter highly seasoned with lemon juice, salt, pepper, paprika and a pinch of sugar.

Right now I'm finding baskets of tiny hot house tomatoes in some markets, selling for as little as ten cents. These, peeled and sliced, mixed with a tangy French dressing, make a grand dressing for plain lettuce salad. Try the combination some time.

We poor down-trodden females who must put our lily-white paws into dish water at all have a hard time keeping our hands up to the display advertising telling of the horrors of a hostess with "those hands."

Try treating red, roughened hands with mutton suet: cut the suet fine and slowly try out the oil, the suet in a small vessel over hot water. At the same time wash the hands very thoroughly with hot water and mild soap, rinse and dry, soften the suet oil and rub in as much as the hands will take up. If done near the heat you'll be surprised how much oil the hungry skin will take up. It heals and smooths one's hands like magic.

First, let's decide what kind of apple can be used. . . . It must be the "pie" kind, which means that it must bake quickly, softening down into a mush. An apple called Yellow Ortley (I think) has this qualification. Next comes the beautiful Spitzenberg.

Butter a wide and shallow baking dish. Have ready a quantity of grated breadcrumbs, apples sliced or diced very thin, and the fresh orange peel cut in paper-thin shreds, and some sugar. Mix in this order:
First, a layer of crumbs, then a thick layer of apple, sprinkled with orange peel and sugar, you must use your own judgment about the sugar. Continue until the dish is full, and although our

JOYS OF CHRISTMAS REIGN IN ALL HEARTS AND HOMES

Homecoming relatives, reunions with old friends, feasting and the exchange of gifts, merry children and genial hosts, all of these expressions of the Christmas spirit are in evidence in hundreds of homes in this and all communities, where truly the joys of Christmas reign supreme.

Joyous Homecoming

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Stonebarger, 825 North Olive street, have been especially happy this Christmas-tide, with six of their children here to enjoy the holidays beneath the roofline of the home.

Living at widely separated points, the various sons and daughters so timed their individual departures that they arrived practically together on Saturday.

One son, H. W. Stonebarger with Mrs. Stonebarger and their son Keith, had the longest motor trip, coming from Kearney, Neb., the old family home, and the senior Mrs. Stonebarger's girlhood home where she had resided for 50 years. Others in this joyous family party were Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Stonebarger and son Gene of Stockton; L. W. Stonebarger and the Misses Eva and Ruth Stonebarger of Long Beach, and Miss Blanche Stonebarger of San Diego.

On Sunday the family assembled around the dining table for the turkey feast, and on Christmas Eve the big Christmas tree and its presents were enjoyed, while the genial spirit of the reunion is brightening the entire week.

Afternoon Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Curtis, 222 South Main street, were among those who entertained Monday afternoon. They served turkey dinner at 1:30 o'clock, using red tape and pretty nutcrackers for table appointments.

Those present other than Mr. and Mrs. Curtis were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson and four children, Franklin, Bobbie, Arthur and Rita Louise of Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. Bert Sutton and daughter, Valerie, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Burns and daughter and son, Marjorie and Curtis, Laguna Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Letha Burns, Los Angeles; Mrs. Ida Lovgreen, Los Angeles; Thomas Watts and Mrs. Ida Dunphy, Santa Ana.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis spent Christmas Eve as guests in the home of Mrs. Curtis' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Johnson in Glendale.

For Visiting Sister

Departure today for their home in Tulare of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dyer and their son Harold, brought to a close a happy reunion in the home of Mrs. Dyer's sister and aunt, Miss Lula Ott and Miss Essie Britton, 433 South Sycamore street.

Pleasures of the holiday visit reached their height on Christmas Day when Miss Ott and Miss Britton entertained at mid-day dinner in the midst of the sparkling decorations of the home.

Guests in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Dyer and son, included Miss Maribelle Dyer, a teacher in the Norwalk schools, happy to have such a pleasant holiday visit with her parents and brother, as well as Mr. Dyer's parents and brother, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Dyer and Leonard Dyer of Cypress, and Miss Ella Blevens of this city.

In Family Gatherings

Christmas joys in the A. G. Flagg home, 1320 North Broadway, really revolved around tiny Linda Huber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Riley Huber, and the hosts' only granddaughter whose second birthday anniversary was coincident with the Christmas season.

There was a pretty tree, at which the small Linda's big brown eyes sparkled, especially as its fruits proved to be such wonderful gifts.

A fair contributor says nothing about BUTTER, I think dots of butter might improve the general flavor. cover and bake half an hour longer to brown the top. Serve with plain cream, the Betty hot.

Guessing blind I'd say that four tablespoonful of Apple Betty might have a calory count of 400. Add extra if you take cream.

Holiday Houseguests

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lepper, 2208 Maple street, entertained as holiday houseguests, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lepper of Taft; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Lepper and daughter, Miss Ruth Lepper of Rancho Santa Fe; Mr. and Mrs. Ray K. Kidd of Bakersfield; Lynn Venum of the U. S. S. Lexington; Mrs. Loretta Lampton of Norwalk.

The family party held a gift exchange Christmas eve, remaining in the Santa Ana home to take part in the Christmas day celebration during which a delicious dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Kidd remained as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lepper, and are planning to leave today for their home in Bakersfield.

Four Generations

Representing four generations, 30 guests took part in the Christmas day dinner with which J. M. Talcott of 1810 North Main street entertained at the Doris Kathryn Tea Shoppe. Each year Mr. Talcott presides as host at a similar event.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Talcott and Grandchildren and James Talcott of Anaheim; Howard Dowell, Claremont; Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Beissel, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Witt, Norval and Harold Witt, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hiltcher, Roland Hiltcher, Mrs. Florence Trickey, Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Edmunds, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Cole and children, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Edmunds and son, Don, and Pauline, Virginia, and Beverly Trickey, all of Santa Ana.

Family Entertained

The family reunion which each Christmas brings together Mr. and Mrs. George W. Drake of Long Beach, and the various children and grandchildren, this year found setting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Drake, 327 Normandy

THE TINYMITES

"A flying sled! Oh, my, how great," cried Duncy. "I can hardly wait until we try it out. I guess we'll travel, now, in style. Just think! We'll sail out through the air and land—well, no one knows just where. And then a little elf exclaimed, 'Oh, please stay here awhile. We'd like to have some fun with you. Gee, there are lots of things to do. We get quite tired of playing all alone. It is a shame.' 'All right,' said Windy. 'Don't you fret. We promise we won't leave you yet. We'll be a lot of fun to play. Now, you suggest a game.'"

shouted. "Why not have a snow-bait fight?"

"Say, that will be a heap of sport. We elves will build a little fort and you lads fight out in the open. That should work out right."

"Why, sure," said Scouty. "You're so small, you wouldn't have a chance at all, unless you had a fort to hide behind. Let's build one now."

"Come on, roll snowballs, everyone, and don't stop till the fort is done. Then, when somebody hollers go, we'll start our little row."

"Go to it," shouted Dotty. "Gee, wee Goldy's going to stay with me and watch the battle while it's on. We're girls, and we don't fight."

And so the bunch worked hard and fast upon the fort until, at last, 'twas finished and one elf exclaimed, "My, it's a pretty sight."

The Tinymites then ran outside and very shortly Copy cried, "We're ready now. The battle's on! We're going to wreck your fort!"

"You'll soon be buried under snow," And then they all began to throw big snowballs and wee Dotty said, "Gee, what a crazy sport!"

CONSUMER INTERESTS

In the recovery program much attention is given to the producer and to the worker. The elimination of cut-throat competition and the exploitation of the worker is a highly desirable end to be sought in any plan looking toward social justice. But the consumer, it appears to many, has been somewhat overlooked in the "new deal."

It may be asserted that we are all consumers,—producers, workers, and all the rest of us,—and that which promotes the interests of the producer and the worker will eventually promote the interest of every one. This is hardly the case. There are a number of groups in the population which cannot share in the gains of the producer and the worker.

Out of the 48 millions of men and women engaged in gainful occupations, according to the census of 1930, there are some eight to ten millions who cannot be classed either as producers or workers. There are nearly one million engaged in public service, three and a quarter million engaged in professional service, nearly five million in domestic and personal service, and three million and one hundred thousand in clerical occupations. In addition to these must be included widows, pensioners, and those who are not organically included in production and in labor unions of one kind and another.

A professor in one of our colleges remarked the other day that he had to pay 15 cents more for a hair cut, 35 cents more for having a suit cleaned. In neither case had the expense of the barber and the dry cleaner been increased; and the professor's salary had been reduced. And he wondered where he fitted in the "new deal." There are many others who feel they are in the same predicament.

It may be recalled that Professor Ogburn resigned from the Federal Consumers' Council some months ago because there was nothing for him to do. This resignation led to a greater public interest in the consumers' position. Now Professor Douglas of Chicago University has been set to work on the matter. His aim is to set up Consumers' Councils in all the more than three thousand counties in the United States, whose duty it shall be to protect the consumer against extortionate prices for which there is no justification in costs of production.

There is always the danger that the consumer will be crushed between the demands of the producers and the workers. That great class has rights which must be considered in the up-trend of prosperity. Otherwise, there will be millions of men and women who will be much worse off than they were in the competitive system which the administration is trying to regulate and control.

BULGARIA'S UNIQUE BOOTLEGGERS

Bootlegging is not confined to illicit selling of liquor in this country. We have heard of gasoline bootleggers. More recently we have heard of bootlegging capital. Bootlegging has come to apply to all manner of activities in which men are engaged to outwit the government of tax levies or in the enforcement of laws.

Bulgaria has a match monopoly. No one is permitted to manufacture matches or to sell them. To use one match to light more than one pipe or cigar or cigarette is a violation of the law. It is unlawful to give a match away, to use any device for lighting a fire, or even to make a paper taper to stick in the stove and light a pipe with it.

Just think what it would mean to us here in this country if we should be arrested and fined for granting the frequent request, "Mister, give me a match;" or to take our cigarette lighter from our pocket and pass it around to the whole group for the lighting of cigarettes. That would be a state law and a state monopoly which would radically change our whole social custom.

The probability is that in the new regulations, which are being enacted by the states to control the liquor traffic, we shall have to place laws of a similar nature upon our statute books. There is bound to be an effort in various quarters to get around the law. The enforcement of all laws which do not have the all but universal sanction of a people is a difficult proposition. Bulgaria's match laws seem strange to us. But having a match monopoly, the state is compelled to enact such laws.

THE ART OF SAYING NOTHING

There is an old Bible story of a prophet who faced a king. The prophet told the king a story of a poor man whose single lamb had been taken from him by a rich man who had large flocks and herds. The king was incensed at such injustice, and demanded that the rich man should be put to death. Then the prophet turned upon the king, and pointing his finger straight at him, said, "Thou art the man."

During the last few years many wrongs have been committed against the common people of this country, whose savings have been dissipated and squandered by men who used them for selfish speculations. There is scarcely a community in this great land, in which there are not to be found women who had entrusted their small savings to one organization or another, and who have lost all. Those responsible for their losses have been the men high up in the community; and thus far no voice has been raised against them by the moral agents of the community.

In the current number of Harpers, John T. Flynn has revealed the financial irregularities of the men who have been the financial leaders of Cleveland, Ohio, for the past ten years. Last month he made the same exposure of the leaders in Detroit. An article so specific had to be recognized in some way by the press of the city, but the leading morning paper in the city passed it over in a short editorial which, though it did not condone, did slur over the whole matter in such a way as to place the blame on the man who wrote the article.

Now, it is to be recognized that there is a certain type of muck-raking which does more harm than good. But elementary decency requires that when men in power bring misery upon thousands of trustful people, who have lost the savings of a life time through their machinations, they should at least come under the condemnation of the justice-loving people of their community. It is not an occasion for soft and elusive words, but for plain speech. It was Rockhill Nelson, the founder of the Kansas City Star, who once said that he never accomplished much in the world by kicking with his stocking feet.

In the interest of those who come after, such exploitations should not again be practised. And the only way in which they can be avoided in the future is to hold up to scorn those who have been guilty of such practices. The stability of government and the honor of society require that example should be made of such men. It may do little good to send them to the penitentiary. At least they should be made to feel the moral disapproval of the communities in which they live.

CHRISTMAS JOY WIDESPREAD

Christmas was a real Christmas in Santa Ana, and, we should judge from reports, all over the country. Even our local merchants, who have been so disappointed in business to these many moons, were able to enjoy a Christmas, because of a realization that business had actually come back.

While there were many fatalities and catastrophes to mar the joy of the season, yet take it by and large, it is a rejoicing period, and we can look forward to the opening of the New Year with greater expectancy and hope than at any time in the last three years. With it there is the poignancy of sorrow in the homes of those who have been bereft by serious accidents and by the convulsions of nature. The catastrophe on the railroad in France outside of Paris, in which 200 were killed, and hundreds more injured, was one of the most serious mishaps that has taken place in railroading for years. The sympathy of the world goes out to the families of those killed or injured.

The floods in the Northwest and the volcanic action in the Philippines, both have claimed their victims. These things are sufficient to remind us, even in the days of merriment and gaiety, that there is a seriousness and sadness in life which modifies our most joyful hours.

Duty to The Public

Riverside Daily News

People generally are beginning to see the necessity of adopting a new standard in their dealings with one another. This is in many ways one of the most hopeful things about the present moment in American life.

This new standard can be expressed very simply. It is the notion that a man's first duty is not to his pocketbook, but to the public at large.

Earle W. Evans, president of the American Bar association, in a speech delivered in Chicago recently makes a direct statement of this standard when he urges that the lawyers take concerted action to drive crooks and shysters out of the legal profession.

"Let it be understood," he declared, "that our duty is first, last and always, to the public interest and not to the interests of the profession or of the lawyer. The public and the newspapers feel that we ought to be responsible for the crooks. I don't know but that the public and the newspapers are right."

"Who else is there who can do it? Let's clean house. It is not enough for the ethical lawyer to be ethical himself and close his eyes to everything done by his brother. He should see that the public is protected, and no ties of kinship or man are more sacred."

Here is an idea which goes far beyond the mere matter of driving crooks out of the profession; it calls for a reappreciation of the individual's aims and standards, and it applies not merely to the legal profession but to all professions and all jobs.

The banker needs to learn it. The manufacturer needs to know it, and the politician, and the broker, and the editor and everyone else whose calling touches the lives of the mass of his fellow citizens. It is only in this way that we can make a success of our capitalistic society. It is the new way. The profit motive by itself can never do it. We have tried that way and it has been responsible in large measure for the condition we are in today.

But if we can team it up with a new and enlightened conception of the duty the individual owes to society as a whole, we may find that the rules of the game need far fewer changes than the critics believe.

Exit The Martian?

Oakland Tribune

Once more a great canal system is scrapped and bulging-browed individuals, so loved by the cartoonists, are wiped off the boards. There is no life on Mars, or any planet save the earth, says Dr. Walter S. Adams, director of Mt. Wilson Observatory. At least "the earth is quite possibly the only place in the universe where life can exist" and the reason is that oxygen in other places is lacking.

The question has been settled a great many times before, but it continues to bob up as proof that man is given to imagine his counterparts on the distant planets. Probably it will be many years before he ceases trying to make signals to tell the folks on Mars how everyone is feeling down here, and he may stick to his impression of huge-domed Martians until someone shows him a better. To support his contention, there is always one question he may fire back at the scientists: "How do you know there isn't some kind of life, on another planet, which does not require oxygen?" Or, does it follow that those who know everything on earth know everything in the universe?

Silly questions, but the testimony of science regarding the possibility of life on Mars and Venus contains many contradictions.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE ELECT

A king has wealth, a king has power,
His subjects bow to him
And always try
To satisfy
His every passing whim.
When he is driving through the streets
Aloft their hats they fling
And loudly shout
The praises out
Of their illustrious king.

A baby lies with staring eyes
Upon his little bed,
And makes it plain
That he would fain
Be dangled, praised and fed.
And though he cannot speak a word
Except a gurgling "Coo"
His subjects see
That straightway he Shall have his royal due.

I do not envy kings at all.
A dreary life they lead;
Their subjects' will
They must fulfill.
Fool laws they have to heed.
But babies, anywhere they're found,
In palaces or flats,
The first few years
Will have careers
Like true-born autocrats.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

RECOVERY PARADOXES

Yesterday I referred to the growing body of critics who believe that the reform part of the national recovery program is actually delaying economic recovery.

Today I want to list some of the specific ways in which they think this is true.

The Banking Act of 1933 forced some very necessary reforms in our banking system, but also destroyed most of the financial facilities for creating and distributing new securities just when new capital issues were vital to economic recovery. They hold that the Securities Act throws undue restrictions around the creation of new securities.

The threat and actuality of inflation—designed to spur business and make debt payment easier—has shaken the faith of the people in the value of money, according to these critics, and has thus made long-term credit extension—which is vital to recovery—difficult if not impossible.

They believe that the extreme economic nationalism into which we are forced by inflationary currency and artificial price-raising means seriously restricted foreign trade.

The Agricultural Adjustment Act—they tell us—may be designed to increase the purchasing power of the farmer, but it means drastically shrunken export markets and greatly increased cost of living for the city inhabitants who are already suffering most from unemployment.

The National Industrial Recovery Act may have been designed to improve the lot of the worker and compel fair trade practices in competition, but they maintain it has so increased the costs of production and distribution that most businesses may not be able to operate at a profit, which they must do if recovery is really to be realized.

These are some of the grounds for this new body of criticism.

Our Children

MENTAL HEALTH

"Yes, Miss Roberta, I know just what you mean. He is like that at home. I've never had any trouble with the other children, but I must say that Donald gives me plenty. I'll do all I can to help you with him but it's about all I can do to get along with him at home."

"Have you taken him to the doctor?"

"O, my yes. The last time when he had one of his temper tantrums I took him to Dr. George and he said that there wasn't a thing the matter with him. He was in perfect health."

"Then I can't imagine what is the matter with him. There is certainly something wrong with a boy who will deliberately tear up another's child's work. You've no idea how mean he is. Just a raging temper about nothing."

"O, yes I know. I'll give him a spanking but I've done that before and it did no good. I wish there was something I could do to teach him, I'm sure."

Many, many children are taken to the physician and pronounced healthy. They are healthy, physically. Every organ is functioning well. But something is the matter with their behavior. They don't function as members of the family, of the class, and the play group. They stick out like sore thumbs. It is they who start the fights, who disturb the quiet and peace of home and school, who make trouble wherever they go.

"But the doctor said he was healthy." Yes, which doctor?

Medical men are not concerned with the mental health of patients as a usual thing. Their training has been all on the physical side. Thinking has only been taken into consideration by the physicians very lately. If a patient had no organic disease he was well even if he did not function as a member of society. It is good to know that lately this other side of life is interesting thoughtful doctors. They are not leaving the field entirely to the psychiatrists and the psychologists.

Thinking affects the behavior of a child. It also affects his bodily health in time. The two work with and upon each other. When little children show by their speech and their conduct that they are thinking wrong, they need the help of a skilled mental expert. I know you are likely to shrink from that idea because mental distress has been so badly served

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped addressed envelope for reply.
